Fiar may our song ring clear.
Firm is thy faith, oh Salem, Thy future service sure,
The beanty of thy heritage
Forever shall cudure.
True is sur loze, oh Salem,
Thy name awe prondly ow'n. The joy of comralieship is here.
Thy spirit makes us one.

HISTORY

The past-"Ah, the past, the pearl gift," as Robert Browning has called it-is our cone real possession in life. It is the one piece of property of which Time cannot deprive us, and a possession which Time usually endears. Perhaps it is true that "all times are good when old." But it is not the high spots of our four years in college as recorded here in our yearbook that are significant to us-no, they are rather trivial an compared with the rich memories that arise at the name -Salem College-and fairly stifle us with devotion and sincere loyalts.

Just as all fairy tales hegin, "Once upon a time," so the majority of class histories commence: "In the early fall"- (in this case)-of 1933. a very worried and bewildered Frenhman Class was traditionally standing at the portal, the cynosure of many skeptical glances from the upper classes. Nor was our bewilderment of momentary duration, for there were the intricacies of the crayfish's anatomy and collateral reading for European History, the secret of the tub room's location, the complication of chapel sitting and tanding, the ever timely enigma of reduciog in the two days before the Christmas holidays, and the perplexing differentiation between the college and academy hells. There were all these thiogs to puzzle and confound us. However, wuch occasions as the entertainment given in our honor by the Juniors, the victory of a hard-won basketball or hockey game and the experience of receiving three letters and a hox of candy all in the same mail kept alight a spark of hope. Surely J. M. Barrie was thinking of the Freshmen-to-be in 1933 when he said, "Youth's hopes go up and down like a bucket in a draw well."

The conventional story now takes a turn. Indeed, we were not the "bold, bad Sophomores" of fame, who unfeelingly dragged Frenhmeo nut of hed at six o'clock for a brisk daily dozen on the Square, as had been the custom in past years. No, we rather distinguished ourselves by nobly establishing the precedent of limiting the Freshman initiation to one night of Sophomore Court. Even with Sophomore English literature included in our curricula, we found time to participate in athletics and excelled on the volley ball court, winning the cup gayly embellished with the beautiful black and red colors. Not unmindful of the kind words of encouragement from our sister class the former year, we were delighted to entertain the Seniors at a really lovely tea.

We were by this time thoroughly imbued with the meaning of "the Salem spirit," and returned our Junior year with a new and keener feeling of youthful enthusiasm for our college. We viewed the lovely redecoration of Main Hall with equally as much pride and delight as our social privileges, which now covered two pages in the handbook. It was now our turn to give out hymn books, to take annomements to Dr. Rondthaler, and to calculate how many Frehmen could be squeezed into one bench on expanded chapel days. We played valiantly on the athletic field, but won nothing. However, we redeemed ourselves with the Junior-Senior-quite a royal entertainment at the Country Club with an orchestra and refreshments. The crowning event-literally and figuratively-came with the transfer of caps and gowns, and we were ready to assume the dignity of Seniors.

September, 1936, found us again standing at the portal, but this time with a happier outlook on life. We were now superior Seniors, shouldering the main responsibility of extra-curricula activities. Early in the fall we were feted by Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler at the long-dreamed-of Senior Dinner and again at the Christmas Party. In accordance with tradition, we held Senior Vespers and sang carols joyfully at Christmas time. We had reached the age at this point that we cast envious eyes on our favorite younger friends with four years of college in their future rather than in their past. In attempts to urge them to come to Salem we thowed them the beautiful restoration work done in the Office Building and our wonderful new Gymnasium. But the best part-the part we would like for all people to know about Salem-is intangible.

It is this intangible and beautiful something to which we as a class hope we have contributed.
Josephine Whitehead, Mistorian.

LITTLE LIZZIE ASTOR CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

TEACHERS' STRIKE

It was an amazing sight that greeted early morning pedestrians as they saw Miss Virginia Neely and Miss Katherine Sisell marching with red banners in front of East End School. The frent door was picketed by Miss Frieda Blumenthal and Xiss Rebokah Baynes, while Miss Gladys Gibson presented the eager students from entering at the sides. Miss Ruth Norman was spokesman for the teachers at the board meeting, where she wiced their demands for larger classes, longer hours and a 50 per cent reduction in salary. Mlle. Josephine Whitehead explained to the reporter their reasons, but since she now speaks largely French and only a little hroken English, the strike remains a mystery.

JOINT LECTURE

A large group of the town's more intellectual up and coming ladies gathered in the spacious dining room of the Hopafuls Club today to hear Dr. Jane Leibfried lecture on "Being a Galloping Doctor." Miss Mary Snipes, the president, assures us that the members felt truly uplifted by this realistic address, but they rose to their feet in applause when Mrs. $\qquad$ (formerly Miss Rose Siewers) concluded the evening with her talk, "Galloping After a Doctor."

LIBRARY TO BECOME POPULAR

The city library under the direction of Miss Virginia Crumpler, assisted by Miss Alice Leec Cooge, announces the addition of twenty-five new books on Uninterosting Fucts of Prchistorti Ficld Mice, hy Prof. B. McIverheimer. "Our library," smiles Miss Crumpler, "now totals one hundred books, and we shall be prepared for all youngsters to spend their afternoons enjoying the new hooks."

500 EARS WASHED

The City Charity Bureau having run out of funds for the present has ingeniously resorted to nature. One of the workers, Miss Alma Cline, gathered 500 of the most rehellious under-privileged children on the banks of the Pee Wee River while Mis Louise Wurreschke equipped with towels and soap washed their ears. We feel sure this act of super thoughtfulness will make better citizens for generations to come.

BUZZING WORKERS MEET

The Ministers' Wives Club this afternoon enjoyed a rare opportunity for gossip (ordinarily forbidden by their husbands) when they took tea with Mrs. $\mathrm{B}-$, formerly Miss Helen Diehl, who has as her guest Miss Mary Hart, just returned from fifteen years with the Hotten Tots in Kamchatka. Paper plates were laid for the former Misses Josephine Ritter, Arnice Topp, and others of this select group.

Niss Jeanette Sawyer, director of the social register of our fair city and surrounding farmland, gase her lorgnetted stamp of approval to the select gathering at the home of Mrs. Wilhur Oscar Exra Astor (formerly Miss M. L. Haywood) who was honoring chaming snub-mosed little Lizrie on her sixth bithday. The sweet little children joined so wholeheartedly in the games provided that the gardens and lawns were totally wrecked. In the grand ballroom now half-filled with quite useless gifts for Lizzie, the disheveled little guests were served very red jello (when everyone knows children expect ice cream). Graciously assisting the hostess were the cream of Yoo Hoo City's dowagers: Mesdames etc., etc. (the former Misses Filoise McCorkle, Sara Easterling, Ethel Highsmith, Frankic Meadows, Corinne Pate, Carolyn Rackcliffe, Margaret Vass, Kea Council, and Josephine Klutz). We hear that the latest creations were worn, but the orchids and gardenias were so thick, it is impossible to verify this statement.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

OF THE  CLASS OF '37

State: North Carolina
County: Forsyth
City: Winston-Salem

Section 1

We, the class of Nineteen Hundred and Thirty-Seven of Salem College, being possessed of sound minds, do hereby submit to whom it may concern this our Last Will and Testament.

Section 2

Article 1. To our Alma Mater, we leave our love and gratitude for all that she has given us. May her future be as glorious as her past.

Article 2. To Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler who have proven themselves an inspiration at all times, we leave our sincere affection.

Article 3. To the Faculty, we leave our thanks for their comradeship and sympathetic forbearance.

Article 4. To the Juniors, we leave our caps and gowns with all the joys and responsibilities which they signify.

Article 5. To the Sophomores, our sister class, we leave best wishes for their success. May their life at Salem be as happy as ours has been.

Article 6. To the Freshmen, we leave this bit of advice: Keep trying, for your day will come.

Article 7. To the incoming Freshmen, we leave our colors, red and black.

Section 3

To the Students

Ethel Highsmith leaves her executive ability, poise, and charm to her successor, the incoming Student Government President.

Jo Whitehead, our efficient president, leaves her sincerity and friendliness to the president of the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-eight.

Frieda Blumenthal leaves her loquaciousness to Mary Woodruff.
Helen Jones leaves her athletic ability to "Weasel" Frazier in hopes that she will make varsity at least once.

Caroline Diehl, Josephine Whitehead, and Eloise Baynes leave their knack of making A's to Tillie Hines, Lizzie Trotman, and Lillie Taylor.

The Practice House girls leave their six weeks of indigestion to next year's tenants.

Virginia Neely leaves her bobby pins to Ginger Piper.
B. C. Dunford leaves his quiet and retiring manner to Tom Houts.

Jane Rondthaler leaves her vocal talent to Julia McCorkle.
Mary Louise Haywood leaves to the succeeding off-campus leader the task of getting day students to chapel.

Jane Leibfried leaves her reducing diet to Julia Preston.
The English majors leave their newly-developed ability to read a novel a day to the Juniors.

The future teachers of our class, leave all the Education they have endured and forgotten to the poor girls who follow.

The B.Mus. students leave their exclusive air-conditioned practice rooms, together with exira hours, to their aspiring successors.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal this fifth day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven.
